

President Asks For Hundred Billion To Speed Victory

President Asks Congress For 16 Billion In Taxes And Savings

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt laid before congress today a $100,000,000,000 war budget to spend the day of victory, and to help raise this record sum he asked for $16,000,000,000 in additional taxes or compulsory savings.

Altogether, Mr. Roosevelt estimated government spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $109,000,000,000, and he said in a message to the lawmakers, "this budget represents the maximum program for waging war."

The new tax program he suggested included a $25,000 limit on the income of anyone after payment of taxes, regardless of the source of his income.

The budget, which estimates spending for the 12 months beginning July 1, not only dwarfed anything in the history books, it represented more than the annual money expenditures of all the other belligerents on both sides of the war, put together.

It was nearly three times what Germany is spending, four times England, and 14 times Japan.

Fiscal Year Figures

In the current fiscal year, America's war cost was estimated by Mr. Roosevelt at about $77,000,000,000. Add to that another $19,000,000,000 spent between Pearl Harbor and the beginning of the current year, and the American war bill between December 7, 1941, and June 3, 1944, will be $196,000,000,000—just $1,000,000,000 short of all the money spent by the treasury from the day George Washington was inaugurated in 1789 until the Japs attacked about a year ago.

"Some persons may believe that such a program is fantastic," commented the commander-in-chief. "If the nation's manpower and resources are fully harnessed, I am confident that the objective of this program can be reached, but it requires a complete recognition of the necessities of total war by all—management, labor, farmers, consumers, and public servants—regardless of party."

He did not translate this figure into dollars and cents.

Mrs. Lindstrom Rotary Speaker

The Rotary club met today at noon with Frank W. Bryant, president in charge of the meeting and J. U. Morris program chairman.

Mrs. Harry E. Lindstrom was the speaker, taking the place of Mrs. Carolyn Cocke of Warrensburg who was to have been on the program but is ill and in a hospital. Mrs. Lindstrom, who is an able speaker, talked on her hobby which is collecting historical inscriptions on markers. The hobby is original with Mrs. Lindstrom, and no one else in Sedalia has selected this unusual idea. Mrs. Lindstrom, in trips throughout the country has noted interesting inscriptions on markers showing the places of historical value such as the Santa Fe Trail, Daniel Boone, the Glacial Times Henry Shaw Gardenway, and peculiar markers of interest such as an old town pump, and the first steel plow. The hobby is both fascinating and educational.

Sam Raskin was introduced by Guy Peabody as the "Baby Rotarian."

Ray Sweeney, a Rotarian from Warrensburg, was a guest.

Following the regular meeting there was a meeting of the board of directors.

One Dead In Hotel Fire

BRIDGEPORT, Ill., Jan. 11.—(AP)—One person was burned to death but 31 others escaped a fire which Sunday gutted the 65-room Hotel Dukes and threatened for a time to wipe out the entire business block.

The body of Mrs. Marjorie Harden Ridgley, 19-year-old wife of a soldier, was recovered last night 11 hours after fire broke out. She had been living in the hotel with her parents.

The flames were brought under control by the combined efforts of fire companies from Sumner, Pinkstaff, Lawrenceville, Vincennes, and Bridgeport. The fire's origin undetermined, caused damage estimated at $40,000.

Briefs From Message To Congress

ADVANCE — WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Highlights from President Roosevelt's budget message to congress:

I am transmitting a war budget exceeding 100 billions of dollars for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1943. xxx This budget presents the maximum program for waging war.

In total war we are all soldiers, whether in uniform, overalls or shirt sleeves.

Monthly expenditures for war purposes amounted to $2,000,000,000 just before Pearl Harbor; they now exceed $6,000,000,000 and they will average more than $8,000,000,000 a month during the fiscal year 1944.

Victory cannot be bought by any amount of money, however large; victory is achieved by the blood of soldiers, the sweat of working men and women, and the sacrifice of all people.

Total war demands simplification of American life. By giving up what we do not need, all of us will be better able to get what we do need.

We must assure each citizen the necessities of life at prices which he can pay.

I have read of this bloc, and that bloc, and the other bloc, which existed in past congresses. May this new congress confine itself to one bloc—a national bloc.

There is no easy, pleasant way to restrict the living habits—the eating, clothing, travel and working habits—of 130,000,000 people. There is no easy, pleasant way to wage total war.

My recommendations contemplate that for the fiscal year 1944, 96 cents of every dollar expended by the federal government will be used to pay war costs and interest on the public debt, and only four cents of the so-called "non-war" purposes.

I believe we should strive to collect not less than $16,000,000,000 of additional funds by taxation, savings or both the fiscal year.

On the basis of present legislation we expect to meet 34 per cent of the total estimated federal expenditures by current receipts during the fiscal year 1944. If the objective proposed in this message is adopted, we shall meet approximately 50 per cent of expenditures during the fiscal year 1944.

Taxes probably will never revert to their pre-war level. But substantial reduction from the war level will, nevertheless, be possible.

Banking Company Cashiers Are Robbed

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Two gun-flourishing bandits crowded a car of two Manor Banking company cashiers to the curb today and sped away a few minutes later with a satchel containing between $2,500 and $3,000.

The loot represented Saturday's receipts from eight bakery stores, company officials said.

The victims, Norris Kays, 27, and Doyle Stockburger, 20, were ordered to "keep your heads down" as the bandits seized the money satchel from the floor of the front seat of the car.

G. B. Boyd Heads Fair Association

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—G. B. Boyd, executive secretary of the Ozark Empire District fair, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Missouri Association of Fairs at Columbia Saturday.

Other officers for 1943 are Larry Jones, Moberly, president; and Ernest Baker of Sedalia, Ross Ewing of Mexico, Harold Boucher of Brunswick, Dr. J. R. Popejoy of California, and Andy Patterson of Kansas City, vice presidents. The association adopted a resolution to continue the operation of fairs in 1943 "if possible," Boyd said.

Nominations To Senate By President

Brown, Michigan Senator, Price Administrator

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt sent to the senate today the nominations of Wiley B. Rutledge, associate justice of the United States court of appeals for the District of Columbia, to be an associate justice of the supreme court, and of Prentiss M. Brown, former Michigan senator, to be Price Administrator.

The chief executive also nominated Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to be minister to Australia, succeeding Nelson Johnson, who is retiring from the diplomatic service.

Josh Lee, former senator from Oklahoma, was nominated to membership on the civil aeronautics board.

The 48-year-old Rutledge, former dean of the law school at the University of Iowa, will take the place vacated on the supreme court bench when James F. Byrnes was appointed Economic Stabilization Director.

Brown will replace Leon Henderson, who announced several weeks ago he was resigning because of a back ailment and poor eyesight. Henderson agreed to serve until his successor could take over.

Brown, a former house member from Michigan before going to the senate, was defeated for reelection in November, as was Lee.

Flynn, in addition to serving as minister to Australia, will be the personal representative of the President, with the rank of ambassador in the Southwest Pacific area. He has called a meeting of the Democratic national committee for next Monday to act on his resignation and choose a successor—Postmaster General Walker, who previously was national chairman, is expected by some persons to get the job.

Flynn Roving Ambassador

The White House disclosed Mr. Roosevelt had sent Flynn a letter Friday informing him of his plan to nominate him as minister and of his appointment as a sort of roving ambassador.

Flynn disclosed in New York Friday that the President was going to give him a diplomatic appointment and that he was giving up the Democratic chairmanship. This was against all White House precedent, which has followed the policy of withholding announcement until their submissions to the senate.

By way of explanation, Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said that Flynn had sent out a call for the Democratic committee meeting Friday, then phoned the White House and talked with an official who told him erroneously the chief executive was sending up his nomination that day.

Mrs. McEniry's Condition Remains Unchanged

Mrs. Charles McEniry, seriously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Cotterman, 400 South Quincy, shows no change in her condition today. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Will McEniry, of Houston, Texas, has arrived to be with her.

The Democrat-Capital Office Will Close From 10:30 Until Noon Tuesday

The Democrat and Capital business offices will be closed from 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning until 12 o'clock noon in respect to the memory of Mrs. A. D. Stanley, one of the owners, whose funeral will be at Calvary Episcopal church at 11 o'clock that morning.

Five Paroled By Governor

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A bank robber and a slayer were among five convicts paroled from the state prison today by Gov. Forrest C. Donnell on recommendation of the parole board.

The bank robber was Louis Petty, 36, who was sentenced January 23, 1929, to serve 45 years for robbing the bank of Niangua in Webster county.

The slayer was John T. Scott, Negro who entered prison October 20, 1926, under life sentence from Cooper county for killing another Negro.

Other paroles:

Harvey Rogers, 23, sentenced November 22, 1940, to serve four years for burglary in Buchanan county.

Charles D. Grotz, 38, received December 23, 1929, under 18-year sentence from Webster county for grand larceny.

Noble Hatfield, 31, received September 22, 1941, from Putnam county to serve three years for driving while intoxicated.

Announce List Americans Killed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The names of 364 American soldiers killed in action on four fronts were announced today by the War Department.

In the list were men from 42 states and Alaska, and it included casualties in the Southwest Pacific, South Pacific, African and European combat zones.

Among those listed were 17 officers and 217 enlisted men killed in Africa, 3 officers and 9 enlisted men in the European theater, 1 officer and 7 enlisted men in the South Pacific, and 8 officers and 102 enlisted men in the Southwest Pacific.

The navy reported last night that 3,211 merchant marine casualties had been reported to next of kin from Sept. 27, 1941, to Dec. 31, 1942, of whom 491 were dead and 2,720 missing.

Army Needs More Doctors

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The importance of keeping fit was emphasized anew today with disclosure that 10,000 more physicians will be drawn into the armed forces this year and that efforts are being made to redistribute some of the doctors remaining in civilian practice.

The War Manpower Commission, in setting this year's quota for the armed forces, said it would leave "more than 80,000" of the nation's 180,000 physicians for the civilians.

Death Takes Well Known Sedalian

Mrs. A. D. Stanley Dies At Her Home; Funeral Tuesday

Mrs. Alma Dewar Stanley, widow of the late Anthony D. Stanley, for many years principal owner of the Sedalia Democrat Company, passed away at her home 711 West Broadway, at 5:25 o'clock Sunday evening. She had been ill and bedfast for several weeks.

Mrs. Stanley would have been 87 years old the 18th of this month. She was born in Logan, Ohio, spent her early childhood in Zanesville, Ohio, and came to Missouri, with her father, William Dewar, and family. They located in Pleasant Hill, and Mr. Dewar, who had been a mill operator in Ohio, engaged in the milling business there, later moving with the family to Solomon, Kas. It was while the family lived in Solomon that the daughter, Alma, was married to Mr. Stanley, who was then a resident of Pleasant Hill.

Their marriage took place in 1876. They lived in Pleasant Hill until 1894 when they moved to Sedalia with their three children. Mr. Stanley became associated with the Sedalia Democrat as an employee, later purchasing the majority of the stock and for many years prior to his death January 5, 1931, was president and manager of the Democrat and Capital.

Mrs. Stanley was a faithful member of Calvary Episcopal church, attended services regularly until failing health prevented, and took part in all parish activities. She belonged to the Helen G. Steele Music club, the Osage chapter Daughters of American Revolution, and in former years to other social and civic organizations.

As one of the owners of the Sedalia Democrat Company it was her pleasure to visit the offices of the Democrat-Capital daily until the last few months, when she was too ill to visit the business district. She chatted with employees, brought bouquets of flowers for the desks and counters. Likewise, she enjoyed shopping in the Sedalia stores. She knew most of the clerks personally, and even when she had no purchases

Congressional Election Tuesday

Tuesday, January 12, voters of this district will go to the polls to elect either between Sam M. Wear, Democrat, or Marion T. Bennett, Republican, as sixth district congressman.

Wear, whose home is Springfield, was defeated in the last general election by Phil A. Bennett, for the congressional seat. Bennett passed away in December. This created a vacancy in congress and it was necessary to conduct a special election. Marion Bennett is a son of the late congressman.

The two candidates, confined their campaign largely to short visits to county seats of the district, which could be reached either by train or bus.

The polls will open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the evening in Pettis county.

The Pettis county court house will be closed during election day Presiding Judge J. V. Kesterson, announced today, according to custom.

The voting places in the city of Sedalia are as follows:

1st Ward, 1st precinct, Engine House No. 1, Kentucky between Second and Third streets.

1st Ward, 2nd precinct, Mark Twain school house Second and Grand.

1st Ward, 3rd precinct, Lincoln school house Osage and Henry.

2nd Ward, 1st precinct, Engine House No. 2 East Fourth street.

2nd Ward, 2nd precinct, 216 East Pettis.

2nd Ward, 3rd precinct, Jefferson school house, New York and Walnut.

3rd Ward, 1st precinct, Washington school house Sixth and Engineer.

3rd Ward, 2nd precinct, Whittier school house, 907 East 16th street.

3rd Ward, 3rd precinct, 1911 East Ninth street.

3rd Ward, 4th precinct, Central Business college 6th and Massachusetts.

3rd Ward, 5th precinct, Old General hospital, between Thirtieth and Fourteenth on Thompson.

4th Ward, 1st precinct, Broadway school house, Broadway and Monticue.

4th Ward 2nd precinct, 420 West Sixteenth.

4th Ward 3rd precinct, Archias Floral Co. 4th & Park Ave.

4th Ward 4th precinct, Horace Mann school house 16th and Stewart.

4th Ward, 5th precinct, Pettis County Court House, between Fourth and Fifth streets on Ohio.

Cars Of Special Train Derailed

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Four cars of a special train were derailed on the Milwaukee railroad line near Dawn, Mo., this morning blocking traffic over the line for the day.

Railroad officials said a broken rail caused derailment of the last four cars of the train but that the cars did not overturn and no one was injured. Persons on the derailed cars were transferred to other cars and the train proceeded. Traffic was re-routed over Rock Island lines. Dawn is 10 miles southwest of Chillicothe.

Junge Heads Important Committee

Named Chairman House Group On Appropriations

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Rep. C. P. Junge, Benton county Republican, was appointed chairman of the house appropriations committee today—clearing the way for immediate introduction of temporary measures to finance state agencies through the first six months of the biennium.

Speaker Howard Elliott (R), St. Louis county, announcing Junge's appointment, said the six-months appropriation bills were to be introduced at this afternoon's session opening the second week of the 62nd general assembly.

Elliott said he would urge the appropriations committee to keep its money allotments "within or below" the state's expected income to assure a balanced budget. Most of the temporary measures, he said, provide about the same rate of spending as during 1941-42.

Pensions Increased

The old age pension allotment was increased, however, to provide full restitution of the 1941 pension cut, and more funds will be allowed the eleemosynary institutions and a few other agencies which went broke last fall, partly because of wartime price increases.

Introduction of appropriation measures today puts the assembly several weeks ahead of the schedule of last session, when delay on

Opposes Flynn Appointment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-N. H.) told the senate today that President Roosevelt's appointment of Edward J. Flynn, retiring Democratic national chairman, as minister to Australia "is an insult to the people of that great nation."

Bridges attacked Flynn's record shortly after his nomination by President Roosevelt.

Minority leader McNary of Oregon previously had announced Republicans would demand an investigation of Flynn's record and Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) said the foreign relations committee would meet Wednesday to consider any requests for hearings.

Reading a prepared speech, Bridges told his colleagues he did not blame the Democrats for "wanting to get rid of Jim (Flynn)," adding that it was "an interesting coincidence that this particular moment paving block Flynn should be seeking diplomatic immunity."

"It is a disgraceful state of affairs," Bridges declared, "when it becomes necessary to subpoena the chairman of a major political party before a grand jury in connection with a criminal offense."

Bridges alluded to a Bronx grand jury investigation of charges that a courtyard at Flynn's estate had been paved with New York City materials and labor. The jury exonerated Flynn of any wrong doing in this connection.

"I don't blame the Democrats for wanting to get rid of him after the way he bungled the last campaign," Bridges continued, "I don't blame the President of the United States for wanting to get rid of him."

Despite the Republican opposition, Democratic leaders said they were certain Flynn would be confirmed as minister to Australia and roving ambassador for the President.

General Justo Dies

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 11.—(AP)—General Augustin P. Justo, 66, president of Argentina from 1932 to 1938 and mentioned frequently as a likely candidate for the office in this year's election on a platform of close collaboration with the United Nations, died suddenly early today.

Noted Carrier Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Major Andrew Rowan, noted carrier of the "Message to Garcia" in the Spanish-American war, died yesterday at the Army's Letterman hospital, the army announced today.

American Major In One-Man Bombing Of German Target

The War News

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Allied bombers have struck again at possible junction points for Marshal Rommel's Libyan forces and the axis army of Tunisia, rading Gabes, the village of Kebili west of that port, and Kairouan, an African air force spokesman announced today.

The highlight of the day's air activity was a one-man bombing attack by Maj. Philip George Cochran of Erie, Pa., who leads a P-40 Warhawk fighter group. Alone and carrying one large bomb, he swept over the roof tops of Kairouan and deposited the explosive in the middle of German military headquarters for the area. He reported the headquarters destroyed.

On returning from the target he was attacked by a Focke-Wulf 190. Although his plane was shot up, he held off the German fighter and returned safely to his base. The Tunisian raids followed the first sweep by American bombers from the west against the tripoli area in the aerial effort to smash Rommel's retreating troops before he can escape the British Eighth Army and join hands with German and Italian forces in the French protectorate on the Mediterranean narrows.

Martin Marauders carried out the main raid of the day. They attacked railroad yards and oil storage tanks at Gabes with an escort of P-38 Lightning fighters. About the same time Bostons escorted by Warhawks struck at a German military camp at Kebili, on the salt lake 65 miles west of Gabes.

Attack Rail Junction

Mitchell bombers attacked the rail junction four miles north of the port of Hammamet, itself 40 miles southeast of Tunis, and were reported to have scored direct hits.

The Maureauders and Lightnings had to fly through heavy anti-aircraft fire to reach their objectives at Gabes, which authorities described as a main supply base for Rommel's forces in Tripolitania, and at the same time were heavily challenged by Messerschmitt 109's.

"The raid was highly successful and direct hits were scored on the oil tanks and railroad yards," the spokesman said. One Messerschmitt was destroyed and one damaged in the air fighting, while one Lightning and one Marauder were listed as missing.

Observers reported the Bostons left the Kebili camp afire. All the Bostons and the Mitchells, as well as their fighter escorts, returned safely.

Has Charmed Life

Lieut. William J. Moelle of San Mateo, Calif., a Lightning pilot, apparently has as many lives as a cat. A few days ago his plane hit a telephone pole, but he returned safely.

Three days ago his plane was shot down and he bailed out at 500 feet or less. He was guided back to safety by sympathetic French and Arabs and is now ready to fly again.

A check of records disclosed that Lieut. W. J. Sloan of Richmond (Please turn to page 4 column 3)

Damage By Fire To Dodson Home

Fire of undetermined origin resulted in about $150 damage to the residence of Ada Dodson, 717 West Cooper street, at 8:57 o'clock Sunday night. When the fire companies arrived the fire had gained considerable headway, but quick work on the part of the fire fighters saved the building and contents from a larger damage.

Father Takes Charge Of Son's Car, Drives It Home

The Ford coach of Arthur Tucker, Green Ridge, which had been reported as stolen last Thursday, was not stolen but driven home by L. P. Tucker, father of the young man. Mr. Tucker, according to the police report, saw the car on Ohio avenue and believing that his son may have gone off and left it, took charge of it.

The car was parked in the 100 block on South Ohio avenue from which place it was reported as missing.

Some Strikers Back

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Approximately 5,000 striking miners returned to work today in Pennsylvania's anthracite fields, but an estimated 19,000 others continued a 13-day-old government-condemned walkout that has created the most critical hard coal shortages in years.

His Plane Was Attacked On Return Trip But He Held Enemy Off

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON (Major Robert S. Allen on active duty)

WASHINGTON — When handcuffed Basil "The Owl" Banghart, chief hatchet-man for the "Terrible Touthy" gang, was riding to the Chicago police station with J. Edgar Hoover, the super G-man asked him:

"Who was warden of Atlanta when you skipped, Basil?"

The gangster mentioned a name, then corrected himself with another name. "No," he added, "it wasn't either one of them. You know, Boss," he smiled at Hoover, "I've been in so many jugs I just can't remember who the wardens were anymore."

Then Banghart volunteered this information:

"You know, Boss, there are two kinds of wardens. There are the guys who want to watch every detail in the place and do everything themselves, and can't because a jail's a big institution. Then there's the warden who sticks his chest out, walks around and leaves everything to others. Neither one is any good."

And he added that there wasn't any jail any place that a man couldn't get out of.

Banghart might also have said that in a good many jails it wasn't necessary to break out; a convict could let a lenient parole system do the trick. For with Banghart when he surrendered was Edward Darlak, who had been paroled 36 times for serious crimes, and after the 36th parole had murdered a policeman.

The present political parole system in many state penitentiaries, to Hoover, is the FBI's greatest enemy. And sometimes he wonders how soon it will be before the Touthy gang is out again, one way or the other; in which case, if the war is over, Hoover will have no legal grounds for arresting them. His only legal excuse this time was that they had failed to register change of address under the Selective Service Act. In other words they had not informed the warden at Stateville, Ill., when they skipped, what their new address would be.

Hoover's Grey Cat

One of the first things the Touthy gang did after arriving in Chicago was to stage a series of hold-ups to get Draft Registration cards and Social Security cards. This was in case they should be caught in a traffic accident and the police demanded identification.

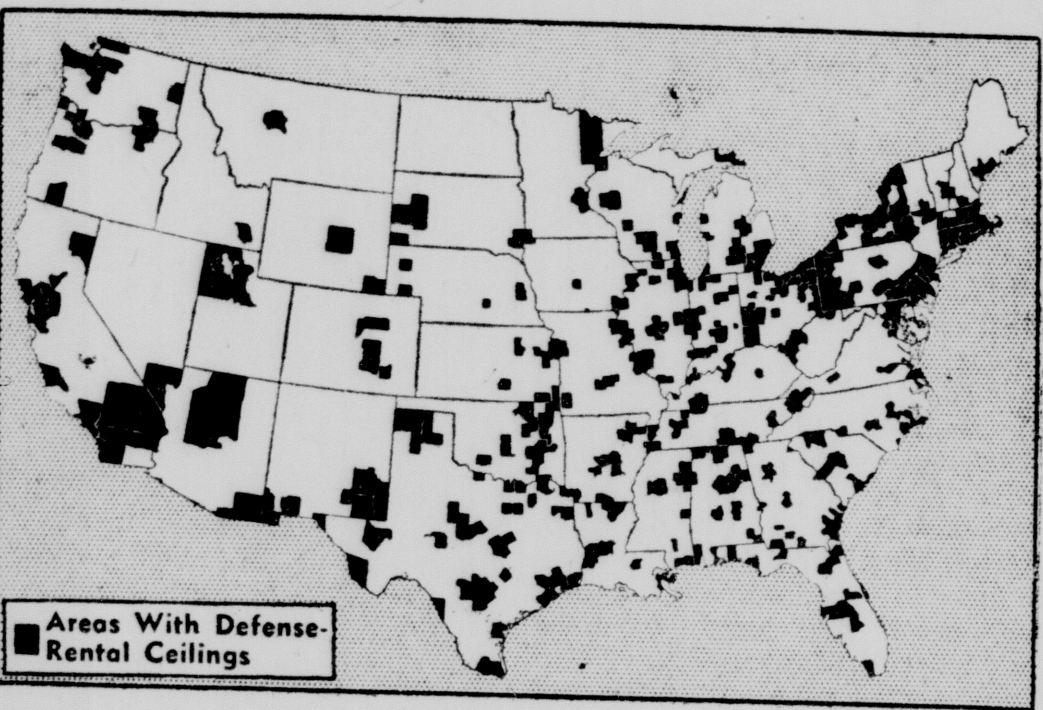

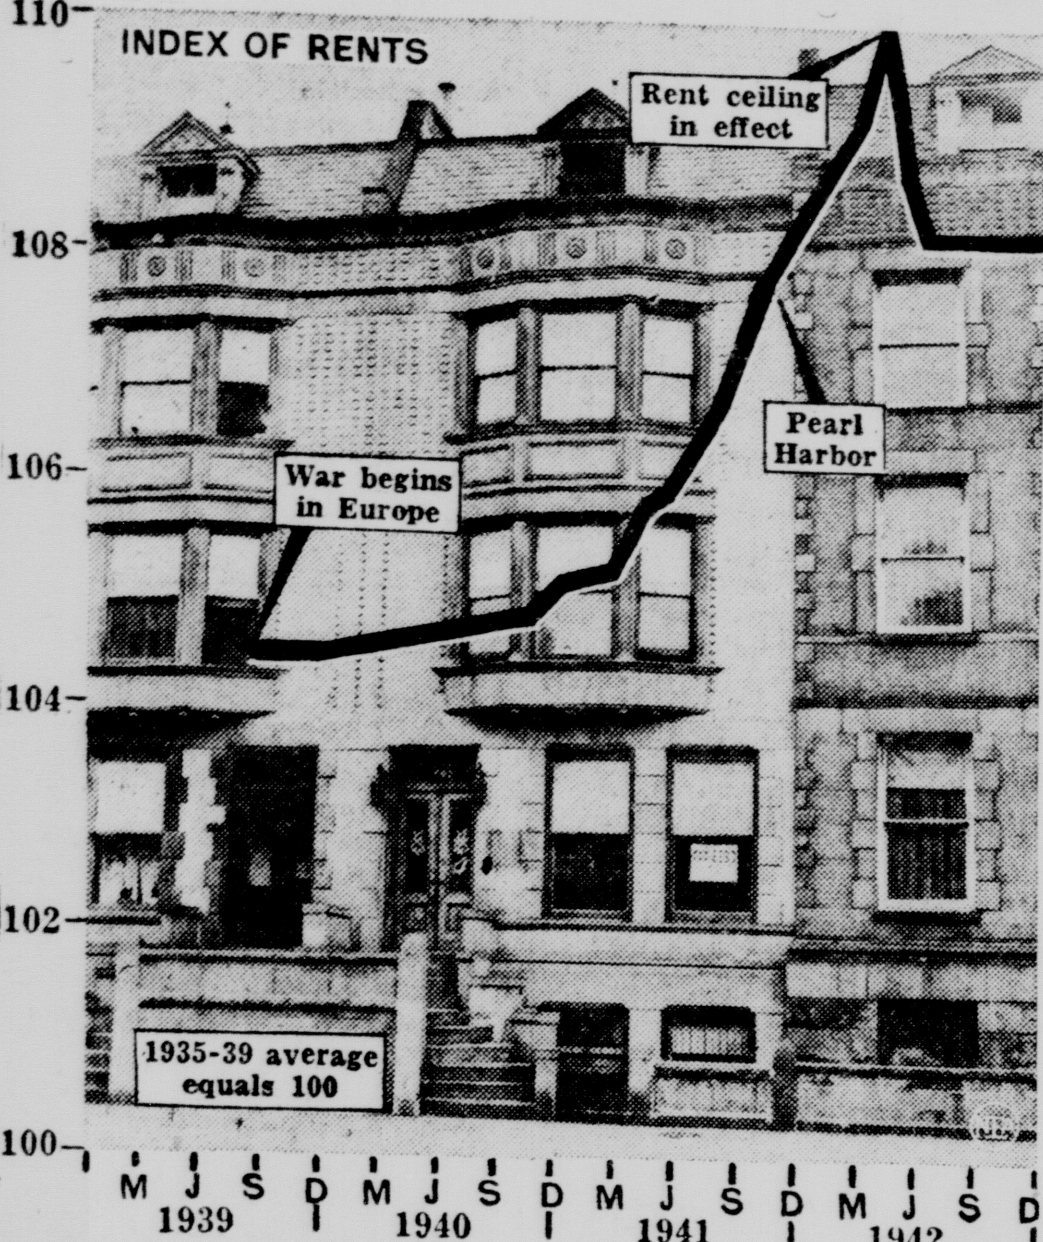

Their life in Chicago was organized along strict military lines. Banghart was the disciplinarian, Touthy the brains. Banghart required two of the gang to remain on watch in the apartment every minute and when William Stewart let Matthew Nelson go out and get drunk, Banghart beat both up with his pistol butt and left them for dead. They were captured by the FBI before Christmas.

Afterwards the five remaining Touthy gangsters got two apartments, plus a farm in Southern Illinois on which they planned to hide after pulling big jobs. They were all set for one of the worst crime waves ever experienced in crime-ridden Chicago.

To avoid detection they pulled some of the cleverest dodges the G-men have known. Every day they changed suits, hats and overcoats. Thus in shadowing them a block away, the G-men found it difficult to ascertain how many were in the gang. Moreover when one gangster went out, Banghart followed a block behind, a sawed-off shotgun under his overcoat, ready to pot any police or shadowing G-men.

After days of watching, Hoover finally decided the time was ripe

The Why and Where of Rent Control

Fourteen months rent for the price of 12 is the saving rent control has brought tenants in nearly 400 regulated defense-rental areas, according to OPA's Leon Henderson. By keeping rents from increasing one-sixth over 1941 levels, an estimated $8,000,000 was saved. Chart shows how rent control has leveled off payments to October, 1941, levels, while map shows areas affected by rent ceilings.

to close in and led his G-men to the Leland avenue apartment. It was 8 p. m. and they knew the apartment to be empty. Walking up the back stairs in the inky blackness, Hoover stepped on a cat. It let out a terrific yowl.

"Good Lord," whispered Hoover, "it's bad luck!" "No," breathed assistant director E. J. Connelley, flashing on a light, "it wasn't a black cat. It was a grey one."

Bedbugs Worse Than Gangsters They took up the vigil in an apartment they had rented across the hall. Into the gangsters' room, with a pass key, slipped two other G-men. Down the hall in a public lavatory stood two more. No one in the neighborhood realized it, but the house was completely surrounded.

Hoover, Connelley and W. G. Bannister took turns peeping through a gimlet hole. It was tiring work. The apartment teemed with bedbugs. The three G-men writhed in agony.

Finally, about 11 p. m., word came that two of the gangsters had left the other apartment and were on the way. They arrived. James O'Connor put his key in the door, then paused. Something about the door had changed. He was suspicious, threw the door wide open. Inside were the silhouettes of the two waiting G-men.

The gangsters opened fire. The G-men returned the fire from three directions. McInerney took a swan dive over the railing and down stairs, trying to escape. He was dead when he hit the landing. O'Connor died soon after.

Heads of tenants peeked out like rabbits all along the hall. "If this is the kind of place this is," exclaimed one irate woman, "I'm moving."

"By all means, Madam," replied Hoover, "but not until tomorrow."

The Zero Hour

No one was allowed to leave the apartment house until morning. The G-men wanted no word to get to the other gangsters. Meanwhile a midnight broadcast reported that two of the Touthy gangsters had been killed. The G-men held their breath for fear Touthy had his radio on, but he was asleep.

Meanwhile, a blackboard talk had been given at headquarters on the detailed strategy for taking the next apartment. Squad leaders were in charge of cars, lights, loudspeaker, handcuffs, ambulance, and different streets.

The plan was to wait for the zero hour of 5 a. m. Meanwhile, Hoover and three others planted machine guns behind a barricade of mattresses, immediately opposite Touthy's door.

All watches were set by observatory time. At exactly one minute of five, G-men, with searchlights attached to storage batteries, placed them on the apartment. Then the loud speaker called out for the gangsters to surrender. "Banghart first," because he was considered the most dangerous.

After ten minutes a thin scared voice said: "I'm coming out. Wait till I get my overcoat on." "Come without your overcoat, and make sure there are no guns in your pockets," was the reply. Banghart came. Hoover grabbed him. As the gangster turned, he recognized the G-man chief and said: "I make you out from your picture."

Hoover's Organization

Then came Touthy and Darlak. As they lay handcuffed and shackled on the mattresses, Hoover remarked to the 44-year-old Touthy, in red pajamas and peroxidized hair: "What do you think of yourself now?"

No answer. "He ain't saying, Boss," spoke up Banghart, "but I can tell you what he thinks. He's thinking as Fibber Magee said to Molly the other night: 'It ain't funny any more.'"

As Banghart shuffled into the freight elevator at the police station, he looked down at his shackles and remarked to Hoover: "Ten years ago you couldn't have done this to me. But, Boss"—and the thin-voiced gangster who had escaped from more jails than he can remember looked up almost admiringly at Hoover—"you got an organization now." He has.

Oh, Absolutely!

SAN PEDRO, Calif.—Baker Pietro Di Carlo shrugs his shoulders.

Should he obey Secretary Wickard's order to deliver only uncut bread to his customers, starting next week?

Or should he comply with his army contract to deliver sliced bread daily to Fort MacArthur?

Private Jones and telephones? No, Mr. Jones, not even in these Army hotels. Room service is out in these glorified barracks, but troops will probably use the swimming pools, tennis courts and dance halls for exercise, drilling and entertainment. Government bought these three and six others, and has leased some 475 hotels for housing and hospitalization of soldiers. Stevens, with 3000 rooms, is world's largest hotel. El Mirador and Nautilus are hospitals for wounded who have served their country.

'I Am a Murderer'

By Morris Markey

Copyright, 1942, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: This is the story of the "perfect crime"—the murder of Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether in the library of his Long Island estate—and of the events leading up to it. We have met the wealthy Colonel's attractive daughter Cynthia. We know that Henry Prentiss, injured hand will keep him out of the day's polo game, and that another player, Fred West, is being urged to family finances.

REVERIES AND POLO

CHAPTER III

THE only report that came to Mrs. Porter West of her son's proposal to Cynthia Merriwether was in a chance remark that Fred delivered as he drank coffee with her after dinner one night.

"By the way," he said, "Cynthia told me to go climb a tree. But," and he smiled a little wryly, "she said it could be a tree in her own back yard."

On the whole, this was not too disturbing to Mrs. Porter West. She had learned, with men and with horses, the inestimable art of patience—and persistence she did not have to learn because it was born with her.

"Keep your head," she replied quietly, "and don't do anything young or foolish."

Which seemed fertile advice except for one element which grew steadily into the situation. That element was Henry Prentiss. Now it would be said at once that Col. Wesley Hope Merriwether and his daughter Cynthia were not old school. They were not even, in the strict sense, Long Island. Six or seven years ago they had appeared at Gull Point, and the colonel had bought, for certain holy quantities of cash money, the old and altogether magnificent Stone estate. And horses once more had filled the barns. And a preternaturally shy Cynthia had taken confidence into herself and had grown slowly beautiful.

Whence had they come? Well, no advice were offered from Stone House, and the times had changed to affect, permanently no doubt, the asking of direct questions upon such a matter. The essential fact was, alas, that Colonel Merriwether was a very rich man. At least he behaved like one. Not nouveau riche, not devoted to crude, extravagant display. Oh, no. But calm, assured, and in his particularly calm manner altogether opulent.

Did the Hunt (a trifle embarrassed for funds) wish the hounds walked for a month? Colonel Merriwether would undertake the burden: daily food for the 26 dogs and keep for their handlers. Not too readily. Not too eagerly.

He would hear the secretary of the Hunt and the master of fox hounds explain the situation—listening most gravely—and then, after some moments of consideration and in the quietest of tones, he would say, "I think it would be a pleasure, gentlemen. I am always glad to be of such assistance as I may manage."

Did the beagling crowd look about a little wistfully for somebody to serve breakfast after the Sunday morning courting? Stone House was gracious in its hospitality, ample with its food, and positively distinguished with its Stone House punch, within whose aromatic bowls the bouquet of Clicquot '29 was never missing.

WHEN Cynthia grew of an age to undertake the duties of hostess (no Mrs. Merriwether had ever been seen or even mentioned) the entertainments within those broad and enviable rooms, upon the terrace, at the pool and the tennis courts, became more lavish. Everybody who was anybody felt at home there, despite the magnificence, and in a confused and troubled world Stone House was a haven of quiet merriment and all of its atmosphere was of ineffable security.

There was only one curious note. The guests at Stone House were, without exception, the people of Gull Point (and their own week-end or summer guests). Nobody ever appeared from the outside world, nobody from that existence which the Merriwethers must, perforce, have lived before their arrival in the community.

It would not be a precise statement to say that Mrs. Porter West enjoyed the hospitality of Stone House. Naturally, she was on the guest list prepared and kept carefully to date by Mitchell Grace, the Colonel's secretary. She even forgave her native antipathy to invitations-by-telephone, and invariably accepted them. But the verb "to enjoy" has connotations peculiar to itself. Mrs. Porter West was too shrewd a woman to spend her opportunities in the vain pleasures of the fleeting hour. And she found out, early indeed, enough to convince her that here, despite certain unsatisfactory details, was the Main Chance—for her Frederick, and not incidentally by any means, for herself.

Then the insufferable Henry Prentiss appeared. Four years ago, wasn't it? Yes, about four years. He, too, seemed to come out of nowhere. Oh, one or two of the boys remembered playing polo with him on the coast, at Midwick and the Uplifters. But what was that? Hollywood! And before Hollywood? Who could know? Probably born in Flat-bush!

She had addressed her son upon the subject within a month of Henry Prentiss' arrival. "By the way, Frederick—" (tittering of the newspaper and sudden interest in some obscure item).

"You were saying something." "Dear me—what could it have been—Oh! I was just wondering, who is your friend Henry Prentiss? Seems a rough and tumble sort of chap."

"Hank?" Fred laughed. "Salt of the earth, Mother. Don't bother. He'll not contaminate your precious Gull Point. The man's positively moral. By Joe, Mother, the most moral citizen I ever knew!"

"I don't care for your language. I asked you a simple question. Very simple."

"To wit: Who is my friend Henry Prentiss? Let us reply, then. He is a guy from California who had a six-goal rating there, good for a three-goal rating in our own high-class backyard. He plays a nice game and he's got top ponies to do it with. He lives in the Brewer cottage, which he rents, and as far as I know he pays his rent—along with his other bills."

"I never saw him fumble the check at 21 or the Stork Club or the St. Regis. He doesn't gossip and never boasts. He's good company, and personally I like him. But, wait a minute! His neckties! I knew something was wrong with the guy. He wears lousy, noisy, viciously expensive neckties. Guss I'll have to drop him after all."

CYNTHIA gave a shrill cry, jumping to her feet and clapping her hands. And Mrs. Porter West swam out of her bitter reveries and lifted her eyes to the soothing green carpet of the playing field—the little clump of horsemen pulling up their mounts at the mouth of the north goal.

Her son had just scored beautifully from a wide angle, and the scoreboard told that his whirlwinds were leading the Clovers, 5 to 3. Henry Prentiss was enjoying Cynthia's excitement to the utmost. He looked with delight at her pink cheeks, her eyes glowing with all of her grand vitality, her small fists beating against each other—and he laughed aloud, slapping his thigh.

Then Mrs. West murmured to herself, "Gaucho individual!" and kicked the bench in front of her with her elegant toe in a manner of such vigor that it would certainly have been frowned upon by any stout-hearted member of the old school.

Society and Clubs

Mrs. Burton H. Russell, Jr., and Miss Elsie Mawhorter entertained Tuesday evening at a miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. Meyer.

Decorations were in pink, white, and blue, and the dining table was decorated with flags and a ship bearing scrolls matching the color scheme on which was written, "The knot was tied for Gerry and George December 28".

Mr. and Mrs. Meyers received many gifts.

Mr. Meyers is in the Navy Reserve, and the two are located at 1601 Lister avenue.

The Stephens college club met Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Ray Lippard, 1842 South Barrett avenue, at a 1:30 o'clock dessert luncheon, which was served at individual tables the centerpiece of which were spring flowers. Cut flowers were attractively arranged throughout the room.

Following the luncheon, a business meeting was held, presided over by the president, Mrs. Sid Condict. The afternoon was spent socially and with work on a sewing project recently undertaken by the club.

LAST HUNDRED MILES TO TRIPOLI

The last hundred miles may prove the hardest in Britain's three-month pursuit of Rommel's axis army as the desert fox makes a stand in the wadi region east of Tripoli. The wadis—dry river beds or gullies—form natural defenses against armored attacks on the last axis stronghold in Libya.

Americans Are All Rich To French Boys

They Believe There Are No Poor People Here

By Harold V. Boyle

WITH THE ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Jan. 6—(Delayed)—(AP)—Leaves from a war correspondent's notebook:

Little French boys in Oran have the habit of dashing up to American soldiers and correspondents and asking for five francs.

"Why should I give you five francs?" I asked one, the tenth to put the arm on me in an hour.

"Because you are an American," said the boy. Then he laughed.

"Why do you laugh?" I asked.

"Because you are so funny. Everybody knows there are no poor people in America."

Brigadier General Albert Walton Kenner, of Washington, D. C., an army surgeon, is cool-headed, nervous and quick-thinking. He joined some other officers in a wild boar hunt in the Atlas mountains, arranged by French and native officials, and knocked over three boars with his ration of six shotgun shells.

He did it by waiting until the beasts were only a few yards away before he fired. The last boar, a 150-pounder, was hit only five yards. The boar went down, struggled to its feet and continued the charge. The General's gun was empty; there was no time to reach for his pistol. As agilely as Tarzan the general leaped for an overhanging bough. The boar dashed ferociously under him, staggered on for 40 yards and fell over dead.

The Ali Baba hotel was the strangest in all Africa, and its four proprietors were the friends of all wayfarers.

They were quartered at an air transport command station at the most desolate airport in this dark continent. Their billet originally was a bare and frigid and altogether wretched shack. A morass of mud separated it from the runway where the American planes took off.

When it rained, the mud in front of the Ali Baba hotel became a bottomless gray slimy pit known as Lake Placid. In the memory of the American campaign no man had known that lake to dry up. Its mud became famous. Persons a thousand miles away would look at a perfect stranger and say: "I see you've been through black airport."

The chief owner of the Ali Baba was Major Ed Coates, a veteran Commercial Airlines pilot and air transport command officer from Mountain Lake, Fort Worth, Texas. His accomplices were Lieut. Bill Smith, of Sands Point, Long Island; Lieut. Henry L. Brown, of El Paso, Tex., and Sgt. Milton R. Rosenberg, of Albany, N. Y.

Together they had built a stove from a discarded oil tank, brought halfway across Africa. They begged and bullied until they got blankets from the back room. They made it a cheery place which corporals and colonels, transport pilots and civilians found to be a friendly oasis.

The hotel remains, but the men who made it are scattered . . .

Hill View Club At Stockhurst Home

The Hill View Extension club met January 8 with Mrs. William Stockhurst.

A visitor, Miss Freda Hale, is to be the 4-H club leader for the girls this year, and some plans were made concerning this work. Club programs for the year were planned, and names were drawn for 1943 Secret Sunshine Pals.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. G. M. Breckenridge February 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale McGreggor are parents of a daughter born at a hospital in Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. McGreggor is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Stanley, 820 West Broadway.

Siberia's evergreen forest is the largest single mass of conifers in the world.

Obituaries

Mrs. Edgar Arnold
Mrs. Margaret McElroy Arnold, widow of the late Edgar Arnold, died suddenly of a heart attack at her home, 412 East Sixth street, at about 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Arnold passed away on May 7, 1942.

Mrs. Edgar Arnold

Mrs. Arnold was born in New Franklin, October 18, 1907, the daughter of George McElroy and the late Mrs. McElroy. She came to Sedalia with her parents when quite young and had resided here since that time. Her mother preceded her in death several years ago. She was a member of the Fifth Street Methodist church. Mrs. Arnold resigned on December 11, 1942, as secretary of Mark Twain school because of ill health. She had held that position since the beginning of the present school year.

Surviving are her little daughter, Mary Ann, her father, George McElroy, M. K. & T. traveling auditor, of the home, two brothers, George McElroy, Jr., in the United States Army, Elliott McElroy of Durant, Okla., and one sister, Mrs. Herbert Studer of Durant, Okla.

The body was taken to the Gillespie funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Mrs. J. W. Carter

Mrs. Catherine Nahm Carter, widow of the late J. W. Carter, passed away Sunday afternoon at her home, 710 West Third street.

Mrs. Carter was born at Norwalk, O., February 1, 1866 and was married to Mr. Carter July 23, 1888. They celebrated their golden wedding on July 23, 1938.

Mrs. Carter has been a resident of Sedalia for many years. She was a member of the Sedalia Chapter No. 47, Order of the Eastern Star.

Surviving are two sons, Clarence L. Carter of Sedalia, cashier, secretary-treasurer of the Sedalia Bank and Trust company, and Howard W. Carter, Detroit Mich. Three grandchildren also survive, Kathryn, Jane and Jacqueline Carter of Detroit.

Miss Lillian Fox will be in charge of the music and will accompany Mrs. A. H. Bratten and Mrs. H. F. Schrankler who will sing hymns, to be selected.

The body is at the McLaughlin funeral chapel where it will remain until after the funeral, and will then be taken to Norwalk, O., where burial will be made beside the grave of her husband.

Addison G. Miller

Addison G. Miller, aged 83, died at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his home, 116 1/2 East Main street.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Lena Stephens, 116 1/2 East Main street.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at the McLaughlin funeral chapel.

Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

The body is at McLaughlin's chapel.

Funeral Of Mrs. Barbara Garry

Funeral services for Mrs. Barbara Garry, 79 years old, who passed away Saturday morning, were held at the Ewing funeral home at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon.

The Rev. B. B. Bess officiated. Music was in charge of Mrs. Glen Moser.

Friends who served as pallbearers were: Avery Crum, Joe Myers, W. D. Wise, John Willis, H. E. Benscoter, I. F. Alexander.

Interment was in the Crown Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Garry is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ellens Sands, with whom she made her home; four grandchildren, Mrs. Violet Short, Marshall; Mrs. Alma Short, Miami, Arizona; Pvt. Clarence Nelson, Camp Barkley, Texas; Sgt. Hubert Nelson on maneuvers in California. Seven great grandchildren also survive.

Funeral Of Wyatt Martin

Funeral services for Wyatt Martin, who resided for the past forty-two years in the Houstonia community and who passed away at the Fitzgerald hospital in Marshall last Tuesday, were held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Houstonia Baptist church with Rev. George Freireburg of the Houstonia Methodist church officiating.

A choir composed of Roy E. Freund, Harlin Hoffman, Mrs. C. O. Hines, Mrs. Amos Rhinehart, Miss Abbey Smith and Miss Mary Alice Smith sang: "Abide With Me," "It Is Well With My Soul," and "Some Day We'll Understand," with Mrs. Joe F. Williams at the piano.

Pallbearers were: Raymond

Whittall, Frank Rank, Claude Nutt, Clarence Rhinehart, Amos Rhinehart, and Alvin Renken.

Burial was in the Houstonia cemetery.

Mrs. Nan White

Mrs. Nan White, a sister of Mrs. William Tongate, 1100 West Fourth street, died Sunday at her home in Moberly. She had been ill for some time.

Mrs. White is survived by two daughters, one in Moberly, one in Kansas City, her sister, Mrs. Tongate, of Sedalia, and two brothers, Tom and Mike Conroy, of Moberly.

Funeral services will be held in Moberly, at the Catholic church, Tuesday morning.

American Major In One Man Bombing Of German Target

mond, Va., was credited with the destruction of a Messerschmitt 109 January 7.

The first American bomber blow from the west at axis nerve centers at Tripoli was reported yesterday.

The blow was disclosed in an allied communique yesterday announcing that B-26 (Martin Raider) medium bombers had blasted an axis airfield 10 miles west of Tripoli, scoring direct hits on hangars and other military objectives.

Raiders Return Safely

The allied raiders, which escorted by Lockheed Lightning P-38 fighters, all returned safely after severely damaging three German fighters which attempted to intercept them, the communique said.

The B-26 raid, which was the only major activity on the part of allied forces in Tunisia, took on special significance in view of reports that Rommel's army once more was withdrawing westward in the direction of the Tunisian frontier.

Most observers believed that the axis leaders now are convinced that Tripoli is indefensible and are concentrating on an effort to get Rommel's forces into southern Tunisia and turn to their own advantage the Mareth defense line which the French built along the Tripolitanian border.

Junge Heads Important Committee

such measures held up January's old age pension checks until February.

The 1941-42 appropriations died last December 31, and state departments are technically without funds until new ones are passed. Final appropriations for the full 1943-44 biennium probably will not be completed for several months, but quick action on temporary bills would tide agencies over in the meantime.

Chairmanship To Junge

Junge, 42-year-old lawyer of Cole Camp, Mo., takes one of the legislature's key posts in becoming chairman of the influential appropriations committee. That group—first to consider all funding measures—plays a large part in shaping the state's financial program.

Junge entered the house of representatives in 1934 and has served continuously since.

As appropriations chairman he succeeds Rep. W. B. Weakley (D) Pike county, who steps down because his party is now a minority and consequently sacrifices its committee chairmanships to the dominant Republicans.

Elliott said he expected to name several other committee heads soon to permit an early start on law-making activity.

Insurance Men Have Meeting

Members of the Sedalia Life Underwriters association agreed to do their utmost in helping in the war savings drive after T. H. Yount, chairman of the Pettis county War Bonds and Stamps committee, announced at a meeting Saturday that U. S. Treasury officials have said that if this county raises $300,000 during the next four months a Pettis county bomber would be suitably inscribed.

The noon meeting was held at Hotel Bothwell with Virgil Ragar, president, presiding.

Yount informed the members that the county has exceeded its quota for the last four months.

W. E. Scotton, who has missed only one meeting since the Sedalia underwriters were organized, was called on by James T. Denny, program chairman, and reported that all underwriters are carrying stamps and selling bonds while going about their daily efforts.

James A. Hands, agency supervisor of the General American Life Insurance company of St. Louis, presented an interesting program with sound films.

Hugo Sparr brought word of compliments from the Jefferson City and Columbia associations concerning the hospitality and fine program at the Tri-City association meeting in Sedalia recently. He also mentioned the contributions of life underwriters to the American home and war effort.

A. H. Wilks, first past president, and present mayor of Sedalia, extolled the advantages of association membership and spoke of the lasting fellowships.

Book Review By Dr. W. O. Mishoff Tonight

Dr. W. O. Mishoff, librarian at the State Teachers' College, Warrensburg, will substitute for Mrs. Carolyn Cockeair, at the book review at the public library tonight, sponsored by the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Cockeair is ill and unable to fulfill her engagement here.

The review starts at 7:30 o'clock.

Death Takes Well Known Sedalian

to make, exchanged pleasant greetings with them.

Until the last few months Mrs. Stanley was unusually active, had a remarkable memory, and was an entertaining companion. She had a keen sense of humor, recalled incidents that had occurred many years ago, but never were they sad or unpleasant accounts she gave. They were always interesting, with humor injected whenever possible.

Outlived Children

Mr. Stanley and their three children, who are as follows: Mrs. Laura Trader, Walter Pitkin Stanley and Mrs. Ada Inge, preceded her in death. Surviving are three grandchildren, Mrs. Harry W. Walch, route 5, Sedalia, Miss Genevieve Stanley and Miss Janet Stanley, 1220 South Barrett avenue; four great grandchildren, Stanley, Charles, Anthony and Theodore Laurence Walch; and two sisters, Mrs. S. M. Stanford, McPherson, Kas., and Mrs. W. J. Bates, Kansas City, Kas.

Mrs. Harry Servan, 216 East Broadway, is a cousin, and W. A. Collins, Harry Collins and Hugh Collins, all of this city, are nephews.

William Stanley, a cousin of the late A. D. Stanley, a pioneer resident of Hartford, Conn., died at his home there Saturday. Mrs. Stanley's relatives were informed today.

Miss Genevieve Stanley, a student at the university of Missouri, and Miss Janet Stanley a student at Bradford College, Bradford, Mass., who was in Columbia on her way east, were called by phone Sunday evening, and both came to Sedalia late Sunday night.

Funeral Tuesday

Funeral services will be held at Calvary Episcopal church at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, the Rev. Fordyce E. Eastburn, rector, officiating.

Pallbearers will be: George H. Scruton, W. D. Agee, W. M. Johns, V. H. Winnberg, Thomas F. Walch, H. H. Kroencke.

Interment will be in the Stanley family lot in Crown Hill cemetery.

Members of the DAR, Osage chapter, will assemble at the church and attend the services in a body.

Living Costs Extremely High In China

Families Generally Are Not Hungry

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
CHUNGKING, Jan. 9.—(Delayed)—China's wartime capital is one of the highest priced cities of the world and as such reflects from the rest of the country a cost of living which is staggering.

Chungking presents some exceptions, of course, because it is an ancient provincial city which had metropolitan conditions suddenly thrust upon it.

Scarcity of accommodations and lack of suitable transportation facilities have forced some prices up. Still, conditions here give a fair gauge of the country's difficulties.

Life isn't easy in China these days, though it should be said that there is sufficient food, barring many districts in Honan province where there has been a drought.

Fortunately, wages of labor have increased enough so the working man and his family, generally speaking, aren't hungry. Many business men are keeping the wolf from the door. But the poor white-collar worker, as usual, is suffering heavily. Salaries haven't moved up with the cost of living.

Shortage of Materials
Because of the lack of materials, it is likely the plaster in your house is falling off and holes in the roof may let in rain. Your plumbing, if you have plumbing, may not work.

The lack of transportation has created a scarcity in many things and coal, of which China has much, is one of these. Chungking government offices and public places like restaurants are forbidden to have fires, although the winter weather is raw and cold.

Gasoline is as precious as molten pearls and motorcars are few and far between.

With all this, you might think the Chinese might be downhearted and rather sorry for themselves—but not so. They are as a whole about the most extraordinarily cheerful folk I've encountered, and I've travelled in maybe 30 countries or more.

I'm glad I came to China if for nothing else but to see these people laugh. Having experienced their irrepressible spirits, I have no fears whatever that the Japs can beat them. You can't defeat a people who have such a pronounced sense of humor as the Chinese.

Candidates For State Representative

UNION, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Republican R. A. King, Jr., of St. Clair and Democrat William Ryan of Pacific are party-chosen candidates in the January 19 special election to elect a successor to the late A. H. Steinbeck, Republican state representative from Franklin county.

Ryan, chairman of the county Democrat central committee, has never before sought elective office. King, 32, is an active young Republican.

Damage By Fire At Raytown

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Two fires caused damage estimated at $157,000 to a lumber yard, office building and a church in suburban Raytown Saturday night and early Sunday.

The first fire, its wind-swept flames threatening the entire business district, was controlled after the Logan Moore Lumber company yard and an office building were destroyed and two other structures damaged. Damage was estimated at $125,000.

Flames four hours later destroyed the Christian church at an estimated loss of $32,000. It had been dedicated three years ago to replace one destroyed by fire in 1936.

District Fire Chief E. M. Grass said sparks from the first blaze could not have reached the church.

Four volunteer firemen suffered minor burns.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 17, 1943.

Golden Text: Romans 6:23. The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; That they do good, that they be rich in good works, . . . that they may lay hold on eternal life" (1 Tim. 6: 17-19).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Entirely separate from the belief and dream of material living, is the Life divine, revealing spiritual understanding and the consciousness of man's dominion over the whole earth" (p-14).

TO ALL MONTGOMERY WARD PEOPLE

1—You are free to join or not to join a union, as you wish. The Company fully respects this privilege. Your opportunity with the Company will be the same whether you are a union member or not.

2—You do not have to join a union to work at Wards.

3—Wards is opposed to all forms of the closed shop. Liberty requires that an employee be free to join, to refuse to join, or to resign from a union without losing his job. Liberty requires that an employer be free to employ the person best suited for the work.

4—The President of the United States has commanded Wards to accept for its Chicago plant a form of closed shop called "maintenance of membership". Under this form of closed shop, employees are not free to resign from the union without losing their jobs. Wards is compelled to discharge every union member who fails to maintain his union membership in good standing (non-payment of dues, etc.). This making of membership in a union a condition of holding a job is the closed shop.

5—Wards did not voluntarily agree to this requirement. Wards believes it to be illegal and uneconomic. Wards has accepted it under duress and only because the President of the United States expressly so ordered.

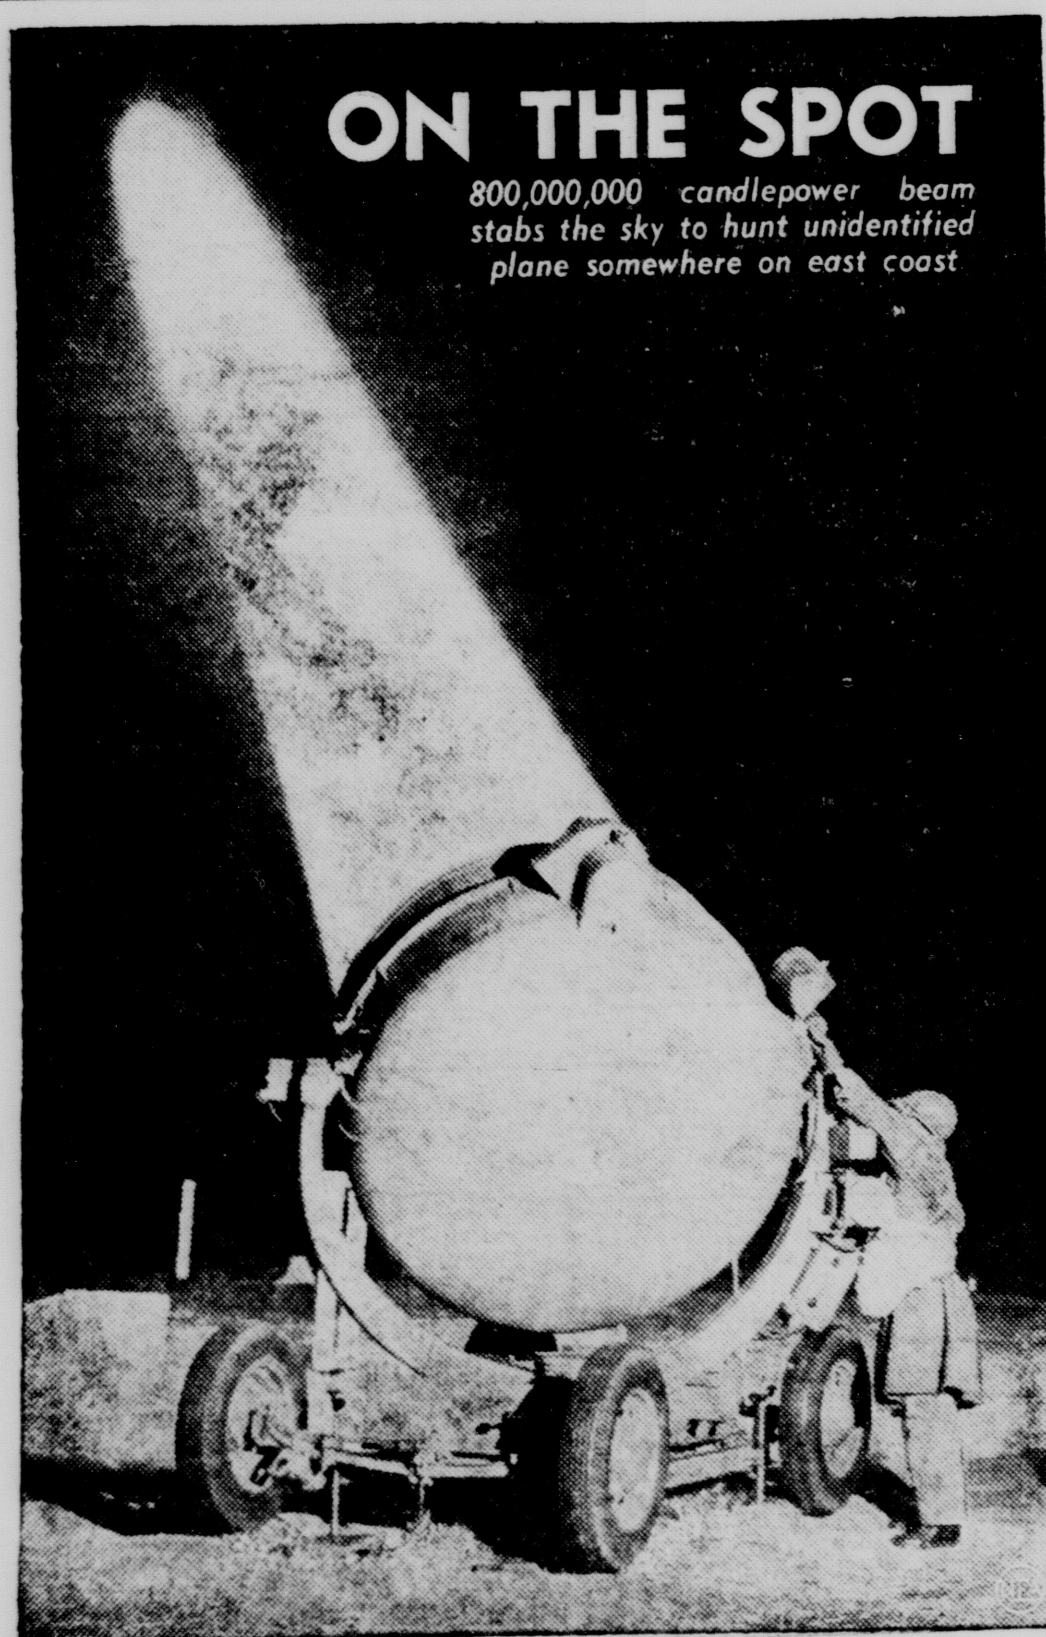

6—Wards is the only retailer in the United States upon whom the President has imposed any form of the closed shop. It is unfair to impose burdens upon Wards and not upon those with whom it is in competition. If the retail industry is to be subjected to the closed shop requirement, it should be legislated by Congress and applied uniformly against all retail establishments.

7—The National War Labor Board has now called a hearing to determine whether the employees at Wards' six large stores in Denver, Detroit and New York City must belong to the union in order to hold their jobs. Wards will continue to oppose this illegal and uneconomic requirement. Wards will reject any demand of the Board that employees be discharged because they fail to maintain their union membership.

8—The President of the United States has no authority to order Wards employees to remain union members in order to hold their jobs. Congress is the only law-making authority. Congress has passed no law requiring the closed shop.

Chicago Teams To French Lick, Ind.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(P)—This may be a blow to the California Chamber of Commerce, but the Chicago White Sox and Cubs have found the grass just as green in their own backyard—considering that their own backyard is a little matter of 278 miles away in French Lick, Ind., where the boys will train in the spring.

Special arrangements committee of Bob Door, superintendent of grounds for the Cubs, and traveling secretaries Joe Barry of the White Sox and Bob Lewis of the Cubs have just returned to Chicago after going over the land at French Lick.

They were jubilant, and nearly at a loss for words. Lewis, of course, found them and boomed: "I like the place so well I'm going to take my vacation there. The hotel is so big the boys can get in shape walking from the cigar stand to their rooms."

Under the streets of Butte, Mont., there are 2000 miles of mine tunnels, according to estimates.

Kansas Sets The Pace In The Big Six

Jayhawks Will Play Three Service Clubs Away From Home

By FRANK HOOD

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11.—(P)—Kansas, the team that's setting a scorching pace in the Big Six Conference basketball scramble, plays three game away from home this week under conditions that would gladden the heart of even most sour government transportation official.

Dr. Forrest C. Allen will bundle his high-flying proteges on a chair car at Lawrence, unload them to play two service teams, a defense plant quintet in a Saturday night tripleheader court program. At that, the trip itself may be the most tedious portion of the iron-man stint, for the Jayhawks probably will use every member of the squad against the three, Camp Crowder, Neosho, Mo., Rosecrans Field, St. Joseph, Mo., and the Kansas City, Kas., North American Bombers, who have far from impressive early season records.

Plan May Backfire

The three-in-one idea, product of Doctor Allen's fertile mind, might even backfire against its sponsor, who is the object of much good natured gallery heckling. More than two hours of bench sitting under a verbal barrage from customers who couldn't tell the score, but know to the last drop the copious amount of water consumed by the ever-thirsty doctor, could become very tiring.

The three tilts add zest to an otherwise light program this week, which includes only two conference struggles, both on Saturday. Nebraska, victorious over Kansas State, tries to preserve its clear slate on a visit to Missouri, and Oklahoma is host to twice-beaten Kansas State.

In outside games Kansas State journeys Tuesday to Rockhurst college seeking vengeance for an earlier beating by the Kansas Cityans, and Kansas entertains Oklahoma A. and M. Wednesday in the renewal of that bitter inter-conference rivalry.

Sooners Have Bad Turn
The Big Six race took an early turn for the worst last week as far as Oklahoma, last winter's co-champion with Kansas, was concerned. The Jayhawks made a successful, 48 to 44, invasion of the Norman court for the first time in five years, giving the veteran Sooners' title hopes a rude jolt. Allie Paine and Armand Dixon, rival guards stole scoring honors as the defenses concentrated on bottling Gerald Tucker, Sooner ace, and Charlie Black of Kansas.

In other conference engagements, Kansas, with Black hitting 33 counters for a new individual scoring record, swamped Missouri, 69 to 44, and Kansas State bowed to Iowa State as well as Nebraska. The Olathe, Kas., Naval Air Base, after absorbing a 60 to 32 beating from Kansas, rebounded to take Missouri, 51 to 42, in the only outside competition.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Kansas	2	0	1.000
Iowa State	1	0	1.000
Nebraska	1	0	1.000
Missouri	0	1	.000
Oklahoma	0	1	.000
Kansas State	0	2	.000

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(P)—When this business of "trying to train baseball clubs in the frigid north first came up, we asked Hugh Fullerton, Sr., about it, since Pop's baseball experience goes back to when southern trips were something of a novelty. "I remember listening to Anson, Ryan, Burns and Mike Kelly tell about training in the snow banks on the Lake Front park at Chicago," Pop writes, "and how Mike shovelled snow and practiced hook slides into the snow at second. . . . We trained at some funny places: Waycross, Ga., (where we were chased out of town after one week and went to Savannah), Hot Springs, Kansas City, New Orleans, Selma, Ala., Galveston, Shreveport. . . . One Spring Chicago went to West Baden, Ind., for ten days then to the University of Illinois and was in fine shape when it started barnstorming. . . . the best-conditioned club I ever saw trained at Hudson, N. M., and hardly saw a baseball until a week before the season started, merely rode horses, climbed mountains and ran around the desert. They were eager to play ball when the season started. . . . Maybe this will cure a lot of bunk."

A Cool Customer
One guy (like Joe DiMaggio) who didn't have to worry about spring training, pop reports, was a big pitcher named Rog Denzer, who lived in Minnesota when the Cubs bought him. . . . Rog didn't report for training and didn't answer letters so a scout was sent after him, arriving on a sub-zero day. . . . After nearly freezing on the way to Denzer's farm because the livernan thought it was too cold to take a horse out, the scout was directed to the barn. . . . There he found Rog, in his undershirt, pitching at a sack of bran and cutting loose with all his speed. . . . "In July of that year," Pop adds, "Rog complained that he was a hot weather pitcher and couldn't work well on chilly days."

Spring Training

Another idea from the same source is that most of the feuds within baseball clubs start from spring boredom. . . . "Most of the players are sick of ball before the season starts, sick of exhibitions and anxious to start real play. When they have too much time on their hands, they form factions that break up clubs. . . . The fights that occur during the playing season are flareups of anger; those of spring training are active hates."

Monday Matinee

The Bowlers Victory Legion, which has raised $61,368 for USO and over $120,000 for the Red Cross, starts its third war charity collection a week from today. This led Bill Kuster of Kansas City to express this sentiment: "We've got to give. The beautiful thing about it all is that we don't have to give until it hurts because it doesn't hurt a bowler to give." . . . But when that No.

7 pin refuses to fall, ouch! . . . San Francisco will stage its first 15-round fight in 30 years tonight when Eddie Booker defends his state middleweight title against Jack Chase. . . . and that's the town where 20 to 40 rounders were commonplace in Jim Corbett's day. . . . Imagine how Lee Armstrong, Utah's grid coach, felt when he used precious gas to drive 22 miles to speak in a neighboring town only to find he was 24 hours early. . . . at least, nobody called it pleasure driving.

Today's Guest Star
Bill Reddy, Syracuse, N. Y., Post-Standard: "Bill Terry had a chance to invest some money in the Phillies, but bought some cows instead. . . . indicating that Terry not only knows which side his bread is buttered on, but also knows where to get the butter."

OFFICIAL BALLOT

SPECIAL ELECTION, SIXTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT, JANUARY 12, 1943

REPUBLICAN PARTY	DEMOCRATIC PARTY	SOCIALIST PARTY	PROHIBITION PARTY
For Representative in Congress 6th District <input type="checkbox"/> MARION T. BENNETT	For Representative in Congress 6th District <input type="checkbox"/> SAM M. WEAR	For Representative in Congress 6th District <input type="checkbox"/>	For Representative in Congress 6th District <input type="checkbox"/>

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS:

On receipt of his ballot the voter shall forthwith, and without leaving the enclosed space, retire alone to one of the voting booths so provided, and shall prepare his ballot for voting in the following manner: Should the voter desire to vote a "straight" party ticket he shall place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below the party name. If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket," he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote. If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such cancelled name the name of person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name. The squares so marked shall take precedence over the cross marked in the circle. Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name, automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark unless the voter indicates another candidate to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate name. All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns if two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted. If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other. A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form. It shall not be lawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner nor to erase any printed name "except as provided above in this section," figure, word or letter therefrom, nor to erase any mark made thereon by such voter, nor inclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter deface or tear a ballot, or wrongly mark the name or make an erasure therein, he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to the ballot clerk the one so defaced or wrongly marked. A ballot placed in the ballot box without any marks shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter shall place a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate, it is to be chosen for the office none of the candidates shall be deemed to have been voted for and the ballots shall not be counted for either such candidate. Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then hand the ballot to the judge of election selected to take ballots, who shall number the ballot and deposit it in the ballot box. The voter shall quit and leave said enclosed place as soon as possible. (Revised Statutes, Missouri, 1939, Section 11603.)

STATE OF MISSOURI)
County of Pettis) ss

In compliance with the provisions of Section 11542 R. S. Mo. 1939 of Missouri, I, W. B. Rissler, Clerk of the County Court hereby certify that the foregoing is the form of Ballot with the names of the candidates and the office for which they are legally nominees to be submitted to the qualified voters at the Special Election of Sixth Congressional District, to be held at the regular voting places on the 12th day of January, 1943.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of office. Done at my office in Sedalia, Missouri, this 29th day of December, 1942.

W. B. RISSLER, County Clerk.
